Members of the Publishers' Press.—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 1905.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

Governor Cobb of Maine got a taste of his own medicine when the police raided his wholesale grocery store in Rockland and seized a large quantity of patent medicine. However, the governor said he was going to have law enforcement, and the police probably took him at his word.

The Haskins incident has been so thoroughly trashed out that it may now be safely laid away on the shelf. The congressman's assertion that he was paired in the vote on the mileage grab bill in the national house and that he was the better half of the pair ought to be sufficient. Being marked "absent" or "present and not voting" is different entirely than being "paired." The first reports of the affair did Congressman Haskins an injustice in saying that he was present and did not vote. His constituents were quick to take up the matter and know the why and wherefores, which shows that nowadays the representatives of the people cannot cut up didoes at their pleasure, although no one thought that Haskins was cutting up a dido.

TRYING TO STOP IRISH EMIGRATION.

The presence in this city of E. St. John Lyburn, who is connected with the department of agriculture in Dublin, Ireland, for the purpose of studying methods of quarrying granite and its manufacture, is an indication of the strong efforts that are being made in Ireland to prevent the emigration of the sons and daughters of the land to foreign countries, particularly to the United States. Mr. Lyburn is one of a corps of deputies sent out to gather information which will be useful in holding the young people of Ireland in their native land. Emigration from that country has been very large and Ireland has suffered heavily from the outpouring of strength and vitality. This present effort is not the first. For a time the results of the efforts were gratifying; the tide of emigration grew noticeably less and Ireland was correspondingly pleased. Now, however, the spirit of roving and desire for better conditions has become uppermost again, and the young men and the young women are leaving Ireland in increasing numbers. This movement is noted by the immigration officials at New York who say that the incoming tide to this country is much larger at the present time than for some years past. Last week more than one thousand of the arrivals were from Ireland, a small number compared with the swarms from other European countries, but still large for Ireland.

It is a very serious problem that the department of agriculture in Dublin has to deal with, but they have gone about it in the right way, to determine what are the conditions which are so attractive to the youth of any country, particularly of Ireland, as found in the United States. That is the purpose of the agents who are now investigating the various fields of activity in this country, to determine if those conditions cannot be applicable to Ireland, even in small part. If they are found to be suited to any extent then they can, and will, be applied there. The results of the investigation will be awaited with eagerness in Ireland as well as in the United States. As for the latter, it will doubtless be pleased to receive the Irish as it has in the past.

SOUTH RYEGATE.

Sammy McAlister and wife of Woodville lost their only child quite suddenly last Wednesday and will bring it here for burial on Friday. The child was apparently as well as usual. It took a spasm and died in its mother's arms. It was 10 months old.

We have several cases of measles in town and a large number of children have been exposed and will doubtless be unable to attend school, which commences Monday, the 10. As we have about 100 scholars in the village, we are liable to be quite measley.

With the improvements and the building up with wonderful rapidity of the new stone sheds and with all the work they can do, looking for more cutters from other places to fill their orders, and with our creamery in a flourishing condition, with steadily increasing patronage, the general prosperity of our industrious little village should prompt us to be thankful. We note with pleasure the activity which is going on at the residence and tin shop of E. G. Lind. He has engaged painters to renew the color of his house inside and out, bricklayers to renovate chimneys, and is at work taking down the old style of picket fence surrounding his house, never to be fenced in again, as stone surbing will take the place. He has at present three stone masons employed in building a substantial wall forty or fifty feet long to keep the hill at the rear of his premises in proper position, and last but not least, he has men working clearing the trees and brushwood on the hill for the culture of grapes, and we think he will have the honor of being the first in this state to cultivate grapes extensively. He has selected eight different varieties, dark color and white, which are well known in Vermont to be desirable and to succeed on account of our northern climate. This we think will make it positive of success by proper treatment, the vines, two years old, are in the cellar ready to plant when Jack Frost is out of the ground.

OPPORTUNITIES.

Opportunities come to most men at some time in their lives. But how many are there who are prepared to take advantage of them? An opportunity usually means a money investment. It is necessary that a man have a little capital. The boy who acquires the saving habit—who saves steadily and persistently—will be prepared to accept his opportunity when it comes to him.

Suppose you save $5.00 each month. Deposit it in the "GRANITE" at three per cent. In a year you will have to your credit $60.97. In five years, $323.81. In ten years, $699.58. The possession of $700.00 has enabled many a man to take advantage of a business opening that has started him upon a successful career. If others, why not you?
